A Strange Story.
[From the New York Times.]

One of the most extraordinary stories of married life we ever heard of, has just been made public. The incidents are more improbable than a novelist or dramatist, with a strict regard for his reputation, would dare to use. The story, as it originally appeared, was that a Mr. Wight had married a Miss Chamberlain, having just obtained a divorce from his first wife on the sole evidence of his second. The first wife then acted as bridesmaid at Miss Chamberlain's marriage, standing there, as we are told, "like a living corpse." The "curse and blight of the Almighty" were invoked by the reporter upon the newly married couple.

Mr. Wight has come forward with a long statement, in which the assertions of the reporter are contradicted, but a narrative in every way more strange and remarkable is substituted for them. The husband tells his own story, and it far transcends the wildest dreams of Deloe or Sue. In 1854, Mr. Wight returned to this country from Europe in order to marry a lady to whom he was engaged. He came sooner than he intended, because the lady's parents and all her family had died, and left her unprotected. She was twenty-three years old, and afflicted with a nervous disease which her mother had inherited from her. The pair went to England, and while at Keswick one night, a month after their marriage, the husband was horrified to see his wife fall in his bed in a fit of epilepsy. She had seven faint fits before the morning. Shocked at the discovery that his wife was afflicted with this most awful disease, knowing that it was incurable, and despairing of escape from his terrible position, he that night, as he states, "adopted her as his child."

From that time to this he has nursed her and taken care of her, but he has never resumed the relationship of their marriage tie. He calls her in his narrative "his patient" and "his ward." Once, when she thought he proposed to treat her as a wife, she was rendered "extremely unhappy." Her disease grew worse—the very servants and nurses fled from the house in horror. Six years ago Miss Chamberlain came as nurse, and Mr. Wight says, "his patient" herself proposed that he should marry this lady. "She," (the first wife), "had come to regard it as religiously wrong to think of fulfilling the relations of wife in her condition." Let us imagine what she must have suffered for a girl who was in Indiana, but failed, for reasons which Mr. Wight, a little inconsistently, declines to mention. At last they succeeded—for the wife helped—and Miss Chamberlain was the solitary witness on whose evidence the compact was dissolved. Of what nature that evidence was, we are not informed. The divorced wife was present at the marriage ceremony, and she is to live with the couple for the future.

Was there ever such a story? One scarcely knows which to pity most, the man chained to a scarcely living woman for thirteen years, or the woman who was subject, or the woman doomed to witness the misery which she had caused, loss of his affections and his marriage with another. Verily the tragedies of real life are more ghastly than those which the imagination conjures up.

London Resurrection Men.
[From Dickens' All the Year Round.]

For several days in the summer of 1828 a certain committee room of the House of Commons, as well as all the passages leading to it, were thronged by some of the strangest and vilest beings that have perhaps ever visited such respectable places. Sallow, cadaverous, gaunt men, dressed in greasy mole-skin or rusty black, and wearing wisps of dirty white handkerchiefs around their wizen necks. They had the air of wicked sextons or thievish grave-diggers; there was a suspicion of degraded clericalism about them mingled with a dash of Whitechapel ostentation. Their ghastly faces were rendered horrible by smirks of self-satisfied cunning, and their eyes squinted with sidelong suspicion, fear and distrust. These were resurrection men, vampires who earned their bread in a horrible way, by digging up newly-interred bodies in the churchyards of London and its suburbs, and selling them for dissection. They had been raked together from their favorite haunts of call, the Fortune of War, in Smithfield. There were terrible rumors that, when "subjects" ran short, they had a way of making dead bodies. The most eminent of them was Izzy, who bought bodies of sextons, and sold dead people's teeth to dentists. He was at last transported for highway robbery. The evidence of these people will best explain their habits. One of them deposited that in one year alone, he had sold one hundred bodies. The most he had ever obtained had been twenty-three in four nights. There were, he said, about fifty resurrection men in London; but they were for the most part petty thieves, who only called themselves resurrection men in order to account to the police for being about at suspicious hours. "Lifters" usually went about in light coats, and the difficulty was to be seen in the London watchmen placed in every London burial ground, and who fired on persons discovered searching for bodies. They were frequently shot at, and the trade became dangerous. The rich were buried too deep; their favorite game was workhouse subjects, who were sometimes laid three or four together. It was a good living if a man "kept sober and acted with judgment." It was sometimes their "dodge" to pass off as relatives of the dead, and to claim workhouse bodies.

KNOW THY DESTINY.—MADAME E. F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrist, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, was now located here at Hudson, N. Y. Madams Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychometre, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can attest. She will send, when desired, a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications are strictly confidential. Address, in confidence, Madame E. F. Thornton, P. O. Box 223 Hudson, N. Y. mh 22-1y

A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the city, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft, rosy complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the OCEANIC BALM, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any lady's toilet. By its use, any lady or gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. Price $1, sent by Mail or Express, on receipt of an order by W. L. CLARK & Co., Chemists, No. 3, West Fayette St., Syracuse, N. Y. The only American Agents for the sale of the same. mh 12-1y

WONDERFUL, BUT TRUE!—MADAME REMINGTON, the world-renowned Astrologist and Somnambulist Clairvoyant, while in a clairvoyant state, delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychometre, guarantees to produce a perfect and life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, with date of marriage, occupation, leading traits of character, &c. This is no imposition, as testimonials without number can attest. By stating place of birth, age, disposition, color of eyes and hair, and enclosing fifty cents, and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture by return mail, together with desired information. THE WORLD ASTONISHED

At the wonderful revelations made by the GREAT ASTROLOGER, MADAME H. A. PERRIGO. She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue, and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. MEDICAL.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig; Come again, come y' useful, come ugly and fair, And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out), and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It is certainly difficult, as nine-tenths of the different preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts of money in purchasing them. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your druggist does not keep it, send us $1
